assets until harvest. The assets could be pregnant The farmer receives no income during the growing cows, free-range oxen, organic garden tunnels and season and has to rely on past savings or expensive macadamia trees. loans from the banks to survive.

We call this innovation, crowd-farming.

Crowdfarming enables the farmer to reduce his financial burden by selling some of the farm assets as they grow on their farm to investors for cash.

The farmer continues to look after both his assets and those of the investors until harvest.

The farmer's financial situation improves at harvest, enabling him to buy back the mature assets from the investor at a profit.

Livestock Wealth links the product produced by the farm assets to profitable markets to the benefit of both the farmer and the investor.

Why choose Crowdfarming™

AFFORDABLE

Start investing from as little as R 576,45. You may invest in as many products as you like. The more you invest, the better the return.
